Shaikh Zayed Grand
Mosque from space

KhalifaSat shoots stunning images of UAE mosques

The Mohammad Bin Rashid Space Centre has shared images captured from space by KhalifaSat, showcasing the architectural splendour of some of the biggest mosques across the UAE. KhalifaSat is one of the world's most technologically advanced remote sensing observation satellites and the first one to be 100 per cent designed and manufactured in the UAE. Three of the four mosques whose images have been shared so far have been named in honour of Shaikh Zayed bin Sultan Al Nahyan. They include the Shaikh Zayed Grand Mosque in Abu Dhabi, Sharjah Mosque, Shaikh Zayed Grand Mosque in Fujairah and the Shaikh Zayed Mosque in Ajman. Since its launch in 2018, the first Emirati-built satellite has been capturing breathtaking views across the Arab region. KhalifaSat's lens has unveiled the stunning beauty of Dubai's artificial islands and skyscrapers, while also showcasing the unique landscape and architecture of various GCC countries.
